Notes on Palaearctic species of the family Leucospidae (Hymenoptera, Chalcidoidea), with new records from North Africa and Middle East

M. MADL & M. SCHWARZ

A b s t r a c t : New records of the family Leucospidae (Leucospis biguetina JURINE, 1807, L. brevicauda FABRICIUS, 1804, L. dorsigera FABRICIUS, 1775, L. elegans KLUG, 1834, L. gigas FABRICIUS, 1793 and L. intermedia ILLIGER, 1807) are provided from North Africa and Middle East. The publication date of KLUG's paper (Die europäischen Arten der Insekten-Gattung: Leucospis) is 1812.

K e y w o r d s : Leucospidae, Leucospis, new records, catalogue, North Africa, Middle East, Afghanistan, Pakistan.

Introduction

In the Palaearctic region the genus Leucospis FABRICIUS, 1795 contains 14 species (BOUČEK 1974). The taxonomy of the species is well known, but there are still gaps in the knowledge of the biology and distribution.

In this paper the species occurring in North Africa, Middle East countries (excluding Turkey), Afghanistan and Pakistan are treated and only papers dealing with this area are listed. Synonyms or misidentifications are marked with an asterisk (*). The general distribution data are based on an unpublished catalogue compiled by M. Madl.

In the last years we have identified Palaearctic material of the Biologiezentrum des Oberösterreichischen Landesmuseums at Linz (Austria) and the Naturhistorisches Museum Wien (Austria). New records of Leucospis biguetina JURINE, 1807, L. brevicauda FABRICIUS, 1804, L. dorsigera FABRICIUS, 1775, L. gigas FABRICIUS, 1793 and L. intermedia ILLIGER, 1807 from the southern Palaearctic region (North Africa and Middle East) are dealt with. The material listed below is deposited in the Biologiezentrum des Oberösterreichischen Landesmuseums at Linz unless stated otherwise. The material of the Naturhistorisches Museum Wien is indicated NHMW.

Prof. R. Abraham (Hamburg, Germany) kindly sent us the unpublished file with the data of the Leucospis species housed in the Zoologisches Museum Hamburg (ABRAHAM & PETERS 2011: 267). The exact data of Leucospis gigas from Algeria and Israel and L. dorsigera from Israel are also listed.

On the publication date of F. KLUG: Die europäischen Arten der Insekten-Gattung: Leucospis

When we read the statement by BOUČEK (1974: 150), that Leucospis varia KLUG and L. grandis KLUG were figured as early as 1814 in AHRENS, we could not believe, that the paper of KLUG (Die europäischen Arten der Insekten-Gattung: Leucospis) had been published in the same year. After a long search we found in Germar's Magazin der Entomologie 1 (1) (p. 60) the note, that volume 6 (1) of the journal "Magazin der Gesellschaft Naturforschender Freunde zu Berlin für die Neuesten Entdeckungen in der Gesammten Naturkunde" had been published in 1812. Consequently the publication date for the following Leucospis species described by KLUG is 1812: aculeata, bifasciata, gibba, grandis and varia.

D i s t r i b u t i o n : Albania, Azerbaijan, Bosnia-Hercegovina, Bulgaria, Croatia (mainland, Hvar, Rab), Cyprus, France (mainland), Greece (mainland, Crete, Rhodes), Iran, Israel, Italy (mainland, Sardinia, Sicily), Jordan, Kazakhstan, Montenegro, Russia, Spain (mainland), Syria, Tajikistan, Turkey, Turkmenistan, Ukraine and Uzbekistan.

The material housed in the Biologiezentrum was published by BAUR & AMIET (2000). The doubtful record Sarepta (today Sarafand) from Lebanon in BAUR & AMIET (2000:

381) is a geographical error. In fact, it is the former German village Sarepta (today part of Wolgograd) in Russia.

Acknowledgements

We are greatly indebted to Fritz Gusenleitner (Biologiezentrum des Oberösterreichischen Landesmuseums at Linz, Austria) for making available the material and Manuela Vizek (Naturhistorisches Museum Wien, Austria) for her support in this study. Many thanks to Rudolf Abraham (Hamburg, Germany) for sending the list of the Leucospis species of the Zoologisches Museum Hamburg.

Zusammenfassung

Neue Funddaten der Familie Leucospidae (Leucospis biguetina JURINE, 1807, L. brevicauda FABRICIUS, 1804, L. dorsigera FABRICIUS, 1775, L. gigas FABRICIUS, 1793 und L. intermedia ILLIGER, 1807) von Nordafrika und vom Mittleren Osten werden mitgeteilt. Das Erscheinungsjahr von KLUG's Publikation (Die europäischen Arten der Insekten-Gattung: Leucospis) ist 1812.
